HALIFAX, Tuesday, May 20.

The Royal Mail Steamship Canada, Captain LANG, from Liverpool on the afternoon of Saturday, May 10, arrived here at 6.30 this evening.

The Canada sailed at 10 P. M., with light southwest wind and thick fog, for Boston, where she will be due about 9 A. M. on Thursday.

The steamship Washington arrived at Southampton on the morning of the 6th inst.

The steamship Cambria arrived at Liverpool a little before 1 A. M., on Thursday, the 8th, and the Collins steamer Baltic arrived at 5 P. M., same day.

The Baltic sailed from Southampton for New-York, on Wednesday the 7th, with about 150 passengers and a full cargo.

The screw steamer Canadian sailed from Liverpool on the same day for Quebec, with 70 passengers, a mail and large cargo.

The clipper ship Racer had gone ashore on Arklow Bank, and would probably prove a total wreck. All her passengers and crew, numbering over 500, were saved.

LATER.—The mate of the Racer reported to the Liverpool Agent of the Associated Press, just before the departure of the Canada, that the ship was fast sticking in the sand, being then up to her spar deck. There was no chance of saving the vessel, but divers might recover part of her cargo.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Queen held a Court at Buckingham Palace on Thursday, the 8th inst., for the purpose of receiving the addresses on the Peace from the House of Lords, the House of Commons, and the City of London. The deputations came in great state and numbered nearly a hundred persons. The Queen briefly acknowledged the addresses and expressed her satisfaction that Peace was reëstablished on a basis that affords security for its permanence.

Both houses of Parliament have recorded a vote of thanks to the Army and Navy. Lord PALMERSTON moved the resolution, and was seconded by Earl DERBY, the Lords. In the Commons, Lord PALMERSTON made the motion, and Mr. DISRAELI seconded it.

Lord GRANVILLE announced that a pension of one thousand pounds sterling, for life, would be settled on Gen. WILLIAMS, who is also created a Baronet, by the title of Sir WM. F. WILLIAMS, of KARS.

Lord ELGIN postponed his motion of inquiry respecting the troops ordered to North America until after the holidays.

Lord COLCHESTER gave notice of a motion requiring Parliament to express its disapproval of the policy of abandoning the maritime rights so long held, as the Congress of Paris had pledged Great Britain to do.

To celebrate the Peace the Queen has granted amnesty to all political offenders, consequently SMITH O'BRIEN, FROST, JONES, and others, may return home. Special exception, however, is made against those who escaped to the United States.

Lord WODEHOUSE, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, is appointed Envoy Extraordinary to St. Petersburg. The appointment is generally applauded.

The Lord Mayor of London gave the customary speech at the banquet to the Ministry. The whole tone of the speeches on the occasion was congratulatory respecting the Peace. Count PERSIGNY, the French Ambassador, said nothing could sever the alliance of France and England. Lord PALMERSTON replied, reciprocating the sentiment, complimenting the Ministers present of Sardinia and Turkey. Lord CLARENDON then spoke, glorifying the Peace and complimenting Russia. The usual toasts followed, and the company separated early. The American Minister was not present, being engaged at the annual dinner of the Literary Fund, where he made a speech.

Mr. DALLAS, with his family and Secretary of Legation, also assisted at the Queen's State Ball and Levee.

The Crimean Board of Inquiry continues its sessions, but they have lost all their interest, Col. TULLOCH being sick.

May 20 is to be a holiday throughout Great Britain to celebrate the Peace.

A regiment of German Jagers at Plymouth had mutinied. The ringleaders were arrested. They complained that the drill was too severe, and that they only enlisted till the end of the war.

The five regiments in the Crimea under orders for Canada, are the 9th, 7th, 39th, 63d and 68d Infantry, under the command of Gen. EYRE.

FRANCE.

A bill was introduced into the Legislature granting four hundred thousand francs for the baptism of the Imperial Prince in June.

The Moniteur publishes the monthly account of the Bank of France, and the balance was satisfactory.

A son of the King of Sweden, the King of Wertemburg, and MAXIMILLIAN, brother of the Emperor of Austria, are visiting LOUIS NAPOLEON.

Count EDGAR NEY is to be the bearer of NAPOLEON'S letter in reply to the CZAR'S notification of his accession to the throne of Russia.

Count MORNY has been appointed Minister to St. Petersburg, and Count OBLOFF has taken for him the Woronzoff Palace on a three years' lease.

Speculation on the Paris Bourse had reached a great height, and English commercial papers were warning British capitalists against it.

The weather in France for several days previous to the sailing of the steamer had been very severe.

SPAIN.

Arrests of suspected persons continued at Barcelona. The Conscription had passed off quietly throughout the country.

BELGIUM.

The Senate was convocated for Wednesday, the 14th inst. Count WALEWSKI'S demand to muzzle the Press of Belgium created intense excitement.

A dispatch from Brussels says: "In the Chambers on Wednesday, the Foreign Minister, in answering an interrogatory in regard to the recent speech of Count WALEWSKI on the press of Belgium, replied, that that speech had not been officially communicated to the Government. When that communication should be made, the answer would be read and would be communicated to all the Governments, and would formally maintain the rights of a constitutional and independent country.

It was asked further, whether any Power had asked for any modification of the laws relating to the Press in Belgium. The Minister said he would answer in one word, "Never." The meeting broke up amidst immense cheering and enthusiasm.

HOLLAND.

A treaty of Commerce and Navigation based on principles of reciprocity has been concluded between Austria and Holland.

DENMARK.

The Hanse towns have refused to adhere to the capitalization forced by Denmark in the question of the Dues. Considerable excitement was caused by an announcement that an American fleet was on the way to Copenhagen.

AUSTRIA.

The Synod of Austrian Bishops, held at Vienna, is about adjourning, without having accomplished its objects.

ITALY.

It is stated that a collective vote of the Powers that signed the treaty of Peace is about ready to be forwarded to the Governments of Rome and Naples, recommending the reforms by the Italian people. It is also said that the Papal Legates at Paris has formally protested against Count WALEWSKI'S language in the Congress, and that the Papal Government is preparing a detailed reply thereto. It is still further rumored that Naples will anticipate the Powers' remonstrance by granting an amnesty on an extensive scale.

SARDINIA.

Questions relative to the Conference have been put to Count CAVOUR in the Sardinian Chambers. He replied that pending the negotiations concerning Italy he could not speak. With respect to the Treaty of Peace, he believed it would insure great moral and material advantages. The Sardinian View of the Italian question was enclosed, while that of Austria was neglected. Hence the question of Italy is and must continue to be a European matter. He added, that the relations of Austria and Piedmont are not ameliorated by anything that has occurred, and that the Sardinian Government may rely on the people to meet every emergency.

A dispatch from Turin says the memorandum presented by Count DE CAVOUR and the Marquis DE WILLAMARINA to the Chambers, shows that Austria having at the Conference refused to discuss the condition of Italy, Sardinia is the only State which offers a barrier to revolution, and demands the co-operation of England and France in carrying out reforms.

It shows that the Austrian occupation is opposed to the interest of Italy and Europe, and contrary to the treaty, to humanity and justice. The maintenance of the alliance of England and France to unite with Sardinia in the application of an efficacious remedy.

Naples permits the export of breadstuffs until June 15 at half the previous export duty, namely, at five carlini. Breadstuffs moderate.

TURKEY.

MR. SUMNER ON KANSAS AFFAIRS.

Mr. SUMNER resumed his remarks on the Kansas question, saying, that as he had already treated of the crime committed against Kansas, and of the apologies for that crime, he would now speak of the various remedies proposed, and show which was the only true remedy. The original Prohibition should be restored. This is the Alpha and the Omega of our sin in this controversy. By such a happy restoration, made in good faith, the whole country would be replaced in the condition which it enjoyed previous to its abrogation. But no such measure is now under consideration. The crime against Kansas was special, and all other questions are absorbed in the special remedies for it. Four remedies are proposed: first, the remedy of tyranny, in the shape of appropriations and troops to enforce the usurpation; secondly, the remedy of folly, proposed by the Senator from South Carolina, (Mr. BUTLER;) thirdly, the remedy of injustice and civil war, proposed by the Senator from Illinois, (Mr. DOUGLAS;) and lastly, the remedy of justice and peace proposed by the Senator from New-York, (Mr. SEWARD,) which last would admit Kansas at once, with her recently-adopted Constitution. All the objections to such admission were considered, whether grounded on want of population or irregularity of form, and the precedent of Michigan was particularly reviewed. In this connection the opinions of Mr. BUCHANAN were introduced, vindicating the admission of Michigan on grounds precisely applicable to Kansas. In conclusion, a comparison was made between the tyranny of the President in Kansas and the tyranny of King GEORGE III. From Congress, Mr. SUMNER appealed to the people, before whom the subject will soon come, to vindicate the electoral franchise in Kansas. Let the ballot-box of the Union, with multitudinous might, protect the ballot-box in that Territory.

MR. CASS IN REPLY.

Mr. CASS—He had listened to Mr. SUMNER'S speech with equal regret and surprise. It was the most un-American and unpatriotic speech he ever heard on this floor. He hoped he might never hear such a speech again, here or elsewhere. He did not rise, however, to make comments on that speech, open as it was to censure and disapprobation, but to say that the Senator from Massachusetts had totally misunderstood and misapplied the case of Michigan. The Topeka Convention showed no analogy between the proceedings in Michigan and those in Kansas.

MR. DOUGLAS IN REPLY.

Mr. DOUGLAS adverted to the malignity which characterized Mr. SUMNER'S speech, and the many personalities in which it abounded. He compared it to a patchwork bedquilt, made up from all the old calico dresses in the house, and abounding in classical allusions, most of which were from those portions of the classics which were suppressed in respectable and decent colleges. That speech was written and committed to memory, practiced before a glass, a negro boy holding a candle and watching the gestures. It was rehearsed to friends, and they repeated in saloons of the city what he was going to say.

Those libels and insults, so gross and vulgar, had been conned over and written with cool and deliberate malignity, and repeated night after night in order to find the appropriate grace with which to spit them at men who differ from him. What right had he to assign three-fourths of the Senate for dereliction of duty? Did the means by which he got here give him the superiority. Mr. DOUGLAS said he had been arraigned as a conspirator and a traitor by a man (SUMNER) himself guilty of crime, having taken the oath to support the Constitution, and then violated it. Alluding to Mr. SUMNER'S attack on Senator BUTLER, who was now absent, Mr. DOUGLAS said Mr. SUMNER would, on his return, whisper a secret apology in his ear, and want him to accept that as a proper apology. He (DOUGLAS) knew how that was done. [Laughter.] He then defended Mr. ATCHISON from the charge of acting the part of CATALINE.

MR. MASON IN REPLY.

Mr. MASON said political relations, in obedience to the forms of our Government, bring Senators in associations which, beyond the walls of the Senate Chamber, would be dishonor, and touching whose hand would be pollution. They were compelled to listen to language here to which no gentleman would lend an ear elsewhere. They bear it in obedience to the Constitution, the trust of which they have undertaken to perform.

Mr. MASON defended ATCHISON, whom he was proud to call his friend, and said that when Mr. SUMNER dared, in the presence of the Senate, to connect Judge BUTLER'S name with an untruth, he presented himself as one utterly incapable of knowing what truth is. In conclusion, he accused Mr. SUMNER of falsification with regard to his (SUMNER'S) remarks concerning Southern Institutions.

MR. SUMNER'S VINDICATION.

Mr. SUMNER said he had just been attacked by three Senators, one (Mr. CASS) of venerable years, and with whom he had been in relations of personal regard longer than with any Senator within sound of his voice. The Senator from Michigan must know full well that nothing could fall from him (SUMNER) which could possess anything but kindness towards him, and he would now say to him that his statements regarding Michigan were founded on local documents, and on the principles of JAMES K. POLK, BUCHANAN, BUTLER, and the Democratic Party of that day, therefore the attack of Mr. CASS did not touch him. He (SUMNER) had spoken of Democrats as he had found them, and of the courage of the Democrats of the Senate, he had no doubt, was equal to that of other men. He had been in the habit of speaking of the Senator from Illinois, with respect, but he was now compelled to speak of him. He wished to [illegible] word of advice—to avoid [illegible] of vulgarity, and endeavor to remember that the body in which he is the Nestor of [illegible] not proper [illegible] debate. Surprising and ferocity [illegible] to this body. The Senator from Illinois, swaltering in venom, had brought forth [illegible] utterly without foundation, heaping upon him (SUMNER) personalities and obloquy. No person with the upright form of a man—

Here Mr. SUMNER paused.

Mr. DOUGLAS—Say it! say it!

Mr. SUMNER—I shall say it. No person with the upright form of a man can be allowed to disgrace himself by such language from his tongue indecent personalities. The offence is nameless and unusual, whose nearest approach is the cherished venom, but not a proper model for an American Senator. Will the Senator take notice?

Mr. DOUGLAS—I shall, and certainly shall not hesitate you in that respect. [Laughter.]

Mr. SUMNER—Ah! the Senator again switches his tongue, and again fills the Senate with offensive odor. Then, turning towards Mr. MASON, he continued: I would simply say to the Senator from Virginia that hard words are not arguments, and do scowls belong to Senatorial dignity.

Mr. MASON was understood to say: The Senator is certainly non compos mentis. [Laughter.]

Here the war of words ended. The galleries were densely crowded. Adjourned.

The Panama Massacre.

The following is the dispatch from Secretary MARCY to Mr. WARD, United States Consul at Panama, in relation to the late outrage committed upon the persons and property of American citizens at that place:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 3, 1856.

Thos. W. Ward, Esq., U. S. Consul, Panama:

SIR: I have received your dispatch of the 18th ultimo, and various other documents relative to the revolting outrage committed upon our citizens, and the destruction and pillage of their property, committed at Panama on the night of 15th ult. I am directed by the President to express to you his approbation of your conduct on that trying occasion. It appears to him to have been marked with prudence, firmness and energy. Measures have been already taken by this Government to provide for the future security of passengers crossing the Isthmus, and the protection of their property. Vessels of war have been ordered to Aspinwall and Panama with proper instructions to their commanders to afford efficient aid in any emergency imperiling the lives and property of passengers or American citizens at either place.

The conduct of the local authority and the native or resident people at Panama, appears by the account this Government has received, to have been to the last degree reprehensible on the disastrous night of the 15th of April. The Government of New-Granada will be held responsible and required to make adequate satisfaction for the injuries and outrages perpetrated against the persons, property and rights of our citizens.

As there will, doubtless, be great discrepancy in the statements of the sufferers and the persons implicated in the massacre and pillage, it is important that you should avail yourself of every opportunity to obtain full, precise and authentic evidence of the conduct of the parties who participated in the wrongs, tracing as far as practicable, the successive events from the beginning to the end of that calamitous scene. Ad reclamations will be made for the property destroyed or lost by the passengers and resident American citizens, evidence of the amount should also be collected. You will afford to the sufferers all the aid you can give to enable them to establish their claims to indemnity.

Steps have already been taken to exact of the Government of New-Granada not only the punishment of the offenders in the outrage, but indemnity to those who have been maltreated in their persons or stripped of their property.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

W. L. MARCY.

LATEST FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Dispatches Received from Lord Clarendon.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 20.

Notwithstanding what may have been heretofore published to the contrary, it is understood the dispatches recently received from Lord CLARENDON neither refuse categorically, nor accede to the demand of this Government for the recall of Mr. CRAMPTON and the British Consuls. Our Government, it is believed, has not a copy of the British Blue Book in the Enlistment case, although several are known to be in possession of the members of the Foreign Legation, especially the French Minister. Those copies were sent here in advance of their publication in England.

The Cabinet was again in session to-day, and if any decision has been arrived at by the Executive, it cannot be well understood it will not be communicated or officially intimated for some days to come.

The Singlers' Telegraph Patent Issued.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 20.

Letters patent were issued to-day from the Patent Office to DAVID E. HUGHES, covering all his claims for his new Printing Telegraph Machine. Since their ordinary date has been bestowed by the Commissioner and his assistants at the Patent Office in their examination of the claims of Mr. HUGHES, to guard against the possibility of conflict with prior patents to Messrs. House and others, and we understand, on the very best authority, that the claims of Mr. HUGHES, as stated by interested parties, to the effect that his patent would be infringed upon the rights of other patentees, are wholly destitute of foundation.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 18, 1856.

CRAMPTON—REMARKABLE DISPATCH.

The long-expected dispatch from Lord CLARENDON in response to recall Minister CRAMPTON and the Consuls connected implicated with him in the violation of our neutrality laws, was received at the State Department of state yesterday morning, having come by the Asia. It certainly is a most remarkable document to emanate from the Cabinet of London, and will not be viewed by the whole country. For it bears the entire case—the refusal to accede to Mr. MARCY'S demands of the 30th December last—upon Crampton's persistently unsupported assertion, that whatever he did in the enlistment business was done in the confidence and with the negative approbation of the American Secretary of State. And this assertion depends upon Mr. CRAMPTON'S simple word alone. He don't pretend to show the scrap of a pen to captain it; but professes to speak of mere private conversations with Mr. MARCY, in which, he insists, that gentleman did that which amounts himself a party to the infraction of our laws.

WHAT CONSTITUTES POLICY!

In all such cases, it is not ridiculous a plea should be attempted to be sustained upon such evidence, especially in the face of the documentary proofs of Mr. CRAMPTON'S duplicity? Yet, on grounds against the possibility of conflict with prior patents to Messrs. House and others, and we understand, on the very best authority, that the claims of Mr. HUGHES, as stated by interested parties, to the effect that his patent would be infringed upon the rights of other patentees, are wholly destitute of foundation.

The long-expected dispatch from Lord CLARENDON in response to recall Minister CRAMPTON and the Consuls connected implicated with him in the violation of our neutrality laws, was received at the State Department of state yesterday morning, having come by the Asia. It certainly is a most remarkable document to emanate from the Cabinet of London, and will not be viewed by the whole country. For it bears the entire case—the refusal to accede to Mr. MARCY'S demands of the 30th December last—upon Crampton's persistently unsupported assertion, that whatever he did in the enlistment business was done in the confidence and with the negative approbation of the American Secretary of State. And this assertion depends upon Mr. CRAMPTON'S simple word alone. He don't pretend to show the scrap of a pen to captain it; but professes to speak of mere private conversations with Mr. MARCY, in which, he insists, that gentleman did that which amounts himself a party to the infraction of our laws.

WHAT CONSTITUTES POLICY!

In all such cases, it is not ridiculous a plea should be attempted to be sustained upon such evidence, especially in the face of the documentary proofs of Mr. CRAMPTON'S duplicity? Yet, on grounds against the possibility of conflict with prior patents to Messrs. House and others, and we understand, on the very best authority, that the claims of Mr. HUGHES, as stated by interested parties, to the effect that his patent would be infringed upon the rights of other patentees, are wholly destitute of foundation.

[illegible] Rev. Dr. CAMPBELL reported a judicial case. It was a complaint against the Synod of Wisconsin, but as both parties agreed upon the statement of facts, and were satisfied with the report of the Committee, it was, therefore, unanimously adopted.

The Stillwater case was then resumed, and Rev. Mr. COMSTOCK was heard in reply to the representative of Synod. He denied the charges of disingenuousness and quibbling brought against him by the Synod's representative.

Rev. Dr. JUNKIN moved that it be the sense of the House that the parties withdraw from the House.

Members of Synod thought it would be a hard thing to turn them out of doors.

The motion to require the parties to withdraw was put and carried.

The members of the Synod of New-Jersey thereupon left the house in a body.

On motion of Rev. Dr. RICE, the complaint was again read.

In order to bring the matter regularly before the House, Dr. RICE moved that the complaint be sustained. The House then proceeded to discuss the subject.

DANIEL LORD, of New-York, appeared in defence of the Synod and Mr. SCHAFFER. He dwelt with emphasis upon the fact that Mr. S. had not been legally summoned, and was under no obligation to appear before the Session. He had a right to a new trial.

Judge FINE defended the action of the Synod. No man could be held to answer in any place until a copy of the charges, the specifications and names of witnesses had been served upon him. In this case, he held that the man had been condemned without being properly before the Session. Sessions cannot be too careful in cases of discipline.

Dr. JUNKIN has the floor when the hour of adjournment arrived.

Deaf Mutes at Dr. Adams' Church.

A special exhibition of the Deaf and Dumb from the Fifth-street Institution was given at Dr. ADAMS' Church, in Madison-avenue, Monday evening, to which the members of both General Assemblies were invited. These interesting people have never appeared to better advantage. The church was nearly full, and the exercises possessed even more than the usual variety. Dr. PARR spoke briefly of the affairs of the Institution, and remarks, in warm commendation of the general conduct of the establishment and of the performances of the pupils, were made by Rev. Dr. DWIGHT, Rev. Dr. HICKOK, Moderator of the New-School Assembly, and Judge JESSUP, of Pennsylvania. The pantomimists who entertained the audience were Misses GERTRUDE WALTZE, who recited in exquisite taste a passage from Evangeline; Miss MARY GOODRICH, who gave a recitation from MOORE; GARNER, VAIL and others, who are well known, and always do handsomely. The High Class was examined in various branches of study, and Dr. ADAMS gave accounts of proficient pupils.

NEW SCHOOL GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Slavery Question and the Position of the Congregational Churches Thereon.

FIFTH DAY.

The Assembly met in Dr. ADAMS' Church at 9 A. M., pursuant to adjournment, and after prayer and reading a portion of the Scriptures, and some unimportant preliminary matters had been concluded, the consideration of the majority and minority reports on Slavery was in order.

A motion was made to postpone.

Dr. BRAINERD said, that by the grace of God they had not yet had an unkind word, and he wished, while they were in harmony, that some action should be had with which all could agree. He would therefore read (it was not then in order to offer) the following

RESOLUTIONS:

Resolved, That while this General Assembly does not design to indorse every expression and shade of sentiment in the report of the majority of the Committee on the powers of the Assembly in regard to Slavery, it hereby adopts said report as embodying substantially the judgment of this body.

Resolved, That as the report of the minority of said Committee conveys a clear and candid expression of a respectable and beloved portion of the Church; that the said minority report be presented in the appendix to our minutes.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Assembly be presented to the Committee for the patient and intelligent attention given to the subject submitted to their deliberations.

After a brief debate the whole subject was made the order for 9 o'clock P. M.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Reports of Committees being in order, Dr. WISNER, from the Committee on Judiciary, congratulated the Assembly on the fact that the peace and harmony of the churches had been such, during the past year, that the Committee had no papers before them.

REPORTS OF DELEGATES TO FOREIGN BODIES.

Rev. WILLIAM W. NEWELL gave a gratifying account of his visit to the General Association of Massachusetts.

Rev. Mr. SMITH reported the churches of Maine and the Seminary of Bangor in a prosperous condition.

There was also a favorable report of the condition of the churches in Vermont. The proceedings of the Conference at Brattleboro' were gratifying. It was not until they were closed that some misrepresentations were made concerning the West.

From Rhode Island there was no report.

Rev. Mr. WALLACE reported that with reference to the German Reform Synod, he had been unable to attend, but he had sent a note to the Clerk, requesting a delegate should be sent to the Assembly.

Cumberland was called, but there was no response.

On motion, the reports were accepted and ordered to be presented in the Appendix.

The Reports of Committees from other bodies were next in order.

Rev. Mr. DANA, of Mass., said the body he represented was small, when compared with many others on which the present Assembly; nevertheless, they had 400 churches, 386 pastors, 59 stated supplies, and 136 ministers without charge. If the question were asked, "Why so many ministers without charge, when there is such a scarcity?" he would answer, that they were engaged in seminaries and colleges, where their influence would be as great as if they had charge of churches. The number of infant baptisms during the past year were 1,204, and they were becoming more common than before. With regard to revivals, there had been one worthy of note in Williams College. Williams and Amherst had 225 or 250 students each, many of whom were willing to bear the cross, become missionaries. Williston Seminary, South Hadley, and the Ladies' School at Pittsfield, were in a good condition. He desired to say a word or two on the subject of benevolence. When some of the brethren went up to Massachusetts and the rocks and sands, it was common for them to declare that they would not live there if they could have the whole State; but when they were going away, they would say "will you not give us some money?" She had raised, during the year, about $11,185, for benevolent purposes; and of that amount she had not used more than $3,000 for herself. With reference to Kansas, his body could not command, they could only advise; and in that connection he could say, that it was their earnest desire that Kansas should be settled by good Christian men. There was a very decided feeling in the Churches of Massachusetts on the subject of Slavery, but there were very few who could be said to belong to the Garrison school.

Mr. PERRIN, from Connecticut, remarked that his State was very small, but it sent out a great many great and good men. How it was, he could not tell, but it was true that those who were born and educated on the soil of Connecticut, seldom become great until they leave that State. (A remark which caused a smile.) But little as she was she exerted a great influence abroad. Wherever he traveled he found "Connecticut tone" permeating society. Concerning the subject of their grief (Slavery) he had not one word to say.

Rev. Mr. WEXMAN brought congratulations from the Congregationalists of New-Hampshire. There they had 200 churches, 200 pastors, and 80,000 members out of a population of 370,000. They had suffered much in population from the continual stream of immigration to the West, but all things considered they were doing well. Concerning the cooperation of the Congregational Churches in Church extension, he had to say that they cherished the utmost confidence in their brethren. But if the working of the plan of cooperation was to take the money of the Congregational Churches to support Presbyterian Churches, he believed both would agree that it had better cease.

Rev. R. S. STORRS, of Brooklyn, was now called on to speak for the General Association of New-York.

REMARKS OF REV. R. S. STORRS.

Rev. Dr. STORRS, of Brooklyn, said: I have the opportunity now, which was denied me last year by the circum-

[illegible]

[illegible] honored religion and given glory to Christ. As reported in the newspapers, the subject was brought up in that assembly, the proposition made, and after some discussion and some confusion it was lost "for want of time."

Now, it seemed to us that if there had been time taken for anything, it might and should have been taken for this—considering the relations of Slavery to this country and the world, and especially to the progress of evangelical religion throughout our land. It seemed to us that at that critical moment, when the fate almost of a new nation at the West trembled in the balance, if there was time for any thing, there might have been time for a brief, decisive, eloquent testimony against that wrong! It was with this feeling that the Association met afterwards at Madrid, and there adopted the resolution which was forwarded by me last year to the General Assembly. It was not in their power to be "discourteous" in its terms. It stated that the action of the Assembly of the Assembly had seemed to the Association a wrong. It purported that if this inaction resulted only from a cramped state of the powers of that body by the pressure of the hour of adjournment, it ought to have been overlooked, but that if such silence at that critical time was purposed and intended, it was not for them to be "discourteous" in its terms. It stated that the action of the Assembly had seemed to the Association a wrong. It purported that if this inaction resulted only from a cramped state of the powers of that body by the pressure of the hour of adjournment, it ought to have been overlooked, but that if such silence at that critical time was purposed and intended, it was not for them to be "discourteous" in its terms. The Association, learning that the Assembly regarded the resolution as discourteous in its terms, passed the following resolutions at its last annual meeting:

Whereas, The General Association, at its meeting in Madrid in August, 1854, instructed our delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, meeting in St. Louis in May, 1855, to express our disapprobation of the inaction of that body in respect to the overwhelming Slavery, at the critical period of their session in Philadelphia in the year 1854, and to affirm that our continued correspondence with ecclesiastical bodies having Churches in Slave-holding States, should be understood rather as affording an opportunity of bearing our testimony against the sin of Slavery wherever existing—within their bounds, than as implying our acquiescence either in the evil itself or in their silence on the subject.

And Whereas, The General Assembly at its late session in St. Louis signified their sense of a "discourteous and objectionable manner" on our part in the resolution above mentioned, therefore,

Resolved, That while we fully concede to the General Assembly the right to entertain and to indicate its own judgment respecting the expressions employed in the resolution referred to, we feel assured that in the action taken last year there was no intention to violate the laws of Christian courtesy, and no disposition to give offence to the followers of our Lord.

Resolved, That the idea of a fraternal correspondence between ecclesiastical bodies, whatever inequalities may exist between them in respect to numbers, involves the propriety and even the duty of admonition and reproof on the part of either towards the other, if we could we continue such a correspondence on any other supposition.

Resolved, That not having intended to give offence in the language used towards the General Assembly at our last session, nor yet being willing to take offence at the manner in which it was received, we still respectfully solicit their attention to the substance of the resolution in question.

The substance of these resolutions is this:

First, that the General Association of New-York thought it the right and duty of every Christian man, and every Christian body, in this age and this land, when the kingdom of Christ is to be advanced against such mighty opposition as meets it, to testify against the extension of the system of involuntary bondage, which makes the family an impossibility to the black man, which puts the chastity of woman and the honor of manhood at the mercy of the master, which sells Christian men and women, and which, by law in these cases, either forbids those who are subjected to the system to read the Word of God! We hold it to be the right and duty of every Christian man, and every Christian body, to remonstrate against this wickedness. There are times when "speech is silvern and silence is golden," but there are other times when speech is golden too, and silence is inaction which God cannot approve. We hold correspondence with this body, because we have recognized the spirit of liberty in it, in the past, and we presence here to-day is a proof that the spirit is there now. For if the Association should understand you to have accepted and embraced the spirit of Slavery, we would walk out of all correspondence with this body, as quickly as you and I would walk out of yonder door, if this house were known to be filled with a miasma that would breed yellow fever.

Second, That when we are in correspondence with any other body, they have a right to remonstrate with us, and we with them, in an unofensive and unobjectionable way, whenever we seem to them, and they to us, in error.

Lest it should seem that anything denominational entered into the spirit of the Association in the matter which was pronounced "discourteous," I will state that if it had been a Congregational body, the Association would have taken its action of remonstrance with a firmer hand and a more decisive voice, than against any other branch of the Church of Christ.

I have three other resolutions which I have been requested to present:

1. Resolved, That this Association have observed, with *regret and pain, the tendency to an increase of sectarian*ism in connection with Home Missionary efforts at the West, and especially the development of that spirit in the appointment of a committee by the General Assembly at St. Louis, for "the employment of Synodical, Presbyterial, and generally of exploring or itinerant Presbyterian Missionaries, and the planting of Presbyterian Churches IN ADVANCE OF ALL OTHERS in towns and neighborhoods, and the founding of Churches within the chartered limits of cities and large villages."

2. Resolved, That this Association would deprecate as a most serious calamity and shame to the cause of Christ, any movement towards retaliation in the same spirit, on the part of Congregationalists.

3. Resolved, That the praises of the General Associations of Connecticut and Massachusetts, the General Conference of Maine and the General Convention of Vermont, against the action of the General Assembly at St. Louis, meets our hearty concurrence, and should command the serious consideration of those who have taken the lead in a policy which, if perpetuated, must inter-rupt the entire harmony of Presbyterians and Congregationalists in the work of Missions.

We do not desire, in conclusion, to limit the effort at self-extension on the part of this body. If the old system of cooperation, as we have understood it, is persevered in on the old basis, we will most heartily pray with that. If the new system of self-extension can be accepted by each body—Presbyterians and Congregationalists alike—and the old cooperative system ceases to be, then we shall not quarrel with that; but we will do our best to pass with you, side by side, to the Rocky Mountains and over them.

Yet if the new system, which seems to us to involve what was stated by the delegate from New-Hampshire, that the Congregationalists shall continue to cooperate in the Home Missionary Society as heretofore, while the Presbyterians devote their money and their efforts more and more to denominational and sectarian objects—if from the simple preaching of the Cross of Christ, it seems to us that the amicable cooperation must cease. For a channel which cuts into the sympathies that send the Gospel, reaches not so deeply as one which cuts into the sympathies that sends a soul with the Gospel; and the one will dwaln the other. The result may be to divert the energies of this expanding body into a new system of competition. The General Association of New-York has never introduced any system of this kind, and does not design to introduce it. They regret that such a policy has already been pursued. I judge, however, that they can live with it, and with confidence to the present system of the cooperative plan.

In conclusion, I will say in behalf of the Association, that we desire to continue in correspondence with this body, if it can be consistent with the self-respect and with meeting the just objections which have been urged against it, and with our right of remonstrance with our body, and theirs with us, and its regard to the dictates of every Christian Association to bear its testimony against the sin of Slavery. We would not be the advocates of the Body. Brethren, and fathers, we are not sectarian, except as we value the principles of our fathers, [illegible] Rev. Dr. COX, on the part of the Congregationalists of England and Wales, in favor of the [illegible] Doctor COX presented at length the arguments which have been advanced in favor of a closer union between this country and Great Britain, two nations which have so many arguments and [illegible] votes in common. He suggested the appointment of a Committee to prepare an address to the Congregationalists of England and Wales, in reply to the letter. On motion of Dr. ADAMS, the letter was referred to the Committee appointed to prepare the address to foreign bodies.

The Report of the Committee on Church Extension was presented and referred.

The Committee on Church Polity, reported, in reference to Dr. MILLS' resolutions, and recommended the adoption of a series of resolutions. They provide for the appointment of Standing Committees on Correspondence for the Ministry, and on Publication. Adopted.

Rev. L. P. HICKOK was appointed to preach the Home Missionary Sermon next year, and Rev. Dr. LEYDER, alternate.

The Committee of Arrangements for the next meeting was appointed as follows: Rev. Dr. [illegible] Albin, Rev. Mr. Ikes, Rev. Mr. Robinson, Rev. Dr. [illegible] Shaw, Rev. Leonard, Mr. George McCord, Mr. [illegible] F. Brandy, Mr. J. A. Foot, Mr. Fenimore [illegible] weld, Mr. Fuller and Mr. Brown.

The historical lecture will be delivered on Wednesday evening, by Rev. Dr. BEECHER, on "The Scotch-Irish element in the Presbyterian Church."

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

THE ALDERMEN.

THE CENTRAL PARK ORDINANCE PASSED—ONE VETO MESSAGE.

REGULAR MEETING.

The Board of Aldermen met Monday evening at 5 o'clock, President BAKER in the Chair. A communication was received from the Central Park Commissioners, [illegible] against purchasing Reservoir property, [illegible] tal Palace Association, or paying the [illegible] Returned to the Committee on Lands.

MORE WORK FOR THE CORPORATION COUNSEL.

A Report from the Committee on Salaries [illegible] of giving power to the School Commissioners [illegible] Corporation Counsel, reported that [illegible] deems it necessary, granted a long debate. Aldermen ELY, TUCKER, FULLER and VOORHIES [illegible] matter as being a "joke," giving the Corporation Counsel an unlimited power to do what he pleased, while Aldermen BROOKS and FOX advocated the [illegible] wage. Aldermen VERMILYE also opposed it, as [illegible] unnecessary, and asking for a [illegible] ling resolution." The matter was finally [illegible] mitted.

THE SOCIETY LIBRARY.

The resolution to remit the claim of the [illegible] Library, in accordance with the [illegible] Counsel to the Corporation that it is a [illegible] library," was then taken up. The matter had [illegible] the question whether or not the Society was [illegible] corporation, was really a charitable institution, and therefore by law exempt from taxation. The [illegible] was finally referred, and [illegible]

THE CENTRAL PARK COMMISSIONERS—MORE IN THE SAME BOX.

The ordinance for the regulation of the Central Park was taken up, and a number of amendments were made. This is the ordinance during the consideration of which, the other evening, Alderman VOORHIES made a serious accusation against Commissioner [illegible]

Alderman FULLER moved to amend by striking out the number of Commissioners, and inserting that there were only the Mayor and the Comptroller, to whom is given full power to do what they pleased in regard to it, such as adopt a plan, regulate it, appoint clerks, interpreters, engineers, etc. [illegible]

Alderman TUCKER and VOORHIES said they wanted to have five Commissioners, among whom they would like to have such men as Wm. H. [illegible] Orison Blunt, and others.

The amendment (to make the number of Commissioners five) was then put and carried.

ARTICULATE—Aldermen Brown, Tucker, Hoffman, Brown, Barlow, Palmer and Ely.

INARTICULATE—Aldermen Oviatt, Vermilye, Griffith, Stone, Jackson, Hopper, Fullerton, Fox, McCormick and Baker.

Democrats in Roman, Whigs and K. N's in Italics.

Alderman TUCKER then moved to strike out the section giving the Commissioners these great powers, but it was lost by a similar vote.

Alderman FULLER then moved to reduce the salary attached to the Commissioners to $500, but he obtained no motion on the subject. Alderman FULLER, in [illegible] ling it as "a specially method of robbing the people of more than half a million of dollars."

Alderman TUCKER and VOORHIES also argued against reference.

The motion was lost by a vote [illegible] above, except that Aldermen VERMILYE voted in the affirmative.

A motion to lay on the table was lost by the following vote:

Aldermen JACKSON moved the previous question, and Aldermen TUCKER moved to lay the matter on the table, but the motion was lost. It was then decided to vote on the main question, by a vote of 13 to 7.

In explaining his vote against the ordinance, Alderman VOORHIES spoke somewhat severely of the Mayor. Alderman JACKSON called him to order.

The ordinance was then adopted by the same vote as that first taken on the subject.

MR. FILLMORE'S MONUMENT.

The preamble and resolutions, relative to Mr. Fillmore, were then taken up. Alderman VOORHIES moved to strike out the appropriation, and Alderman HOFFMAN objected to laudatory preamble. Alderman VOORHIES, in reply to the passage, the matter was laid over until Wednesday.

A NOMINATION AS CITY CHAMBERLAIN.

A communication from the Mayor was then read, nominating Andrew V. Stout, Esq., President of the Shoe and Leather Bank, as City Chamberlain, in place of Robert Kelly, deceased. A motion to refer to the appropriate Committee was lost, and then upon, on motion of Alderman VOORHIES, the nomination was laid on the table.

On motion of Alderman FOX, the Board then adjourned until Wednesday next.

THE COUNCILMEN.

The Board of Councilmen met Monday evening, President PISCKNEY in the Chair. After the reception and reference of petitions against the opening of College-place to Greenwich and Washington-streets, against the widening of Rivington-street, and for the extension of Franklin-street.

The resolution extending the hospitalities of the City to Hon. MILLARD FILLMORE, was taken up, and the amount of $1,000 appropriated for the purpose thereof. There was considerable debate upon the matter, but the decision was not published. There was a motion to appropriate $15,000, but it was not put. Mr. SWAIN and several other friends of Mr. FILLMORE favored the resolution to extend the hospitalities of the City, but opposed the appropriation of any money. The Board adjourned soon afterwards.

News from Rio Janeiro—Treaty between Brazil and Paraguay.

Advices from Rio Janeiro to the 6th ult. [illegible] that the negotiations that have been pending for some time between Brazil and Paraguay, respecting the free navigation of the Paraguay River, have at last been brought to a happy termination.

On the 6th of April was concluded and signed a treaty of friendship, navigation and commerce between the two powers, and also a convention fixing the place and the form in which the boundary questions are to be definitely settled.

The exchange of ratifications would take place in the City of Assumption within eighty days, or sooner if possible.

The treaty would go into effect as soon as the ratifications could be exchanged, so that all parts of the navigation of the Paraguay and, consequently, of the Ocean, may be considered open to the commerce of the provinces of Mato-Grosso.

By the terms of the treaty concluded on the 9th of December, 1850, this Province should have enjoyed the benefits of a free navigation of the Paraguay River, but it is only at the present day that it has really come into full possession of this privilege.

DEATH OF JUDGE BURNETT.—Hon. [illegible] BURNETT, one of our old and highly respected citizens, died at his residence, Benedict-street, yesterday. He was a native of Newburgh, Orange-co., N. Y., to this town in 1796, when he entered Brown University, at which institution he graduated four years afterwards. He has ever been among the most active friends of the College, and at the time of his death was one of its Trustees. He studied law, we believe, with the late Judge Kenny, then Unite States District Judge for this District, and after that time until within a recent period has been engaged in professional pursuits. He was for a number of years Chief Justice of the County of Queens, Piscataqua (County) and in those days, under the old Municipal Government was changed, he was elected Judge of the Municipal Court, and continued in that office, by annual appointment, until 1853, a period of 21 years. Having exclusive jurisdiction in all probate matters, this Court is of the greatest importance and dignity, and to the just and impartial administration of its duties every citizen has a deep interest. During the long period Judge BURNETT held this responsible and delicate office, he discharged all its functions with unquestionable fidelity and integrity, and to the general and universal acceptance of the public. In this length of time an amount of property greater than the entire aggregate of the city passed under his jurisdiction, some of the largest estates having been adjudicated and settled upon two or three occasions. Yet, we believe, Judge BURNETT never retained for any property, [illegible]

GARRETT JORDAN, of West Point, Dutchess County, died last week at the residence of his son, [illegible] years old. He was a soldier of the Revolution, and [illegible] to a pin in the stable for the purpose of hanging up harness.

After the Artillery came the Cavalry—the Lancers by the minute as it prancing (for though with instant speed they rushed onward, through they should have charged, if the column in front had not been a little slow in getting out of their way. After them came the Lancers of the Army, on their fast run, lances stretching, bodies bent, make slightly waving as they swept on, eager, swift—a glorious sight. Then the Dragoons and Cuirassiers—carbines on the thigh, sabres out—on the full gallop, sassy firm, every horse well in hand, every helmet well set, steady and iron-looking as if they had been motionless.

They are magnificent troops. I saw them charge a battery of 20 pieces at Vicalvaro. How rapidly they enveloped it! How irresistibly they rode through and through it. How unflinchingly they bore the fire, first of the battery itself which tore them dreadfully before they could get at it, then of the infantry on whole bayonets they sprang in the rear of the guns. The Spanish cavalry is good—well-made horses, bold, firm riders and brave men.

So passed the famous review of the forty thousand, which some said was to be the signal of another coup d'état—some the commencement of another revolution—and more, that it would be nothing more than a great national holiday—and these were right. The day was fine, not too warm; but every helmet and bayonet and lance and polished gun shone in the bright rays of an April sun—shone its prettiest; but could hardly equal the fire of the dark eyes of the beautiful Madrid women who filled the balconies of the great street of Alcala. Mantillas thrown back, fans in motion—a galaxy of miles of as fair, fluttering, delicate, soft, plump and passionate humanity, as can be found the world over.

Espartero, as the representative of the Queen, and Luzon, Minister of Public Works, have gone to Valadolid to inaugurate the works on the railway to Burgos. The Señor Sa Osmo, formerly Minister of Peru at Washington, and afterwards the negotiator of the treaty of peace and recognition by Spain of the independence of that country, is the President of the Company, who has undertaken to construct the road. You know Osma made himself a colossal fortune in the guano operations soon after the fructifying properties of that article were discovered. His wife is sister to the Spanish Minister of State, Zabala.

This latter personage continues at Valentia with his Viceregal powers, quieting that rebellious province. But it seems they would be quiet—not very quiet at least. Zabala has thought proper to disarm 21 companies of the National Militia of that city, and the rest have offered the passive resistance of not wishing to do duty or obey orders ever since. So the city authorities have resigned—others elected—resigned again, and still others elected, without being able to settle the government of the city on any other basis, just at present, than the 10,000 bayonets Zabala has at his disposal. Meantime, the insurrection of Valentia has got into the Cortes at Madrid, and terrible speeches are pronounced against the ministers, who keep as mum as possible and take the storm on their backs.

O'Donnell presides over the Council of Ministers in the absence of Espartero. And it is much feared they will shortly be turned out of office, not indeed by a formal vote of censure on the part of the Cortes, before the return of the illustrious Duke of Victory. Some people imagine that this is just what Espartero would like, and his purpose in taking himself out of the way just at this moment. He would thus get rid of O'Donnell quietly, and might return to form a Ministry to his own mind, out of the puro, and even the democratic, elements at his disposal. We shall see. AN AMERICAN.

NEWS FROM MEXICO.

DEPARTURE OF GENERAL GADSDEN—NEW COMMERCIAL AND POSTAL TREATY BETWEEN MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES—AMERICAN GRIEVANCES IN MEXICO—DEPARTURE OF THE SPANISH MINISTER, ETC.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

CITY OF MEXICO, Monday, May 6, 1856.

General Gadsden left this city yesterday morning for the United States. The General is in very poor health, and his visit to the States is in consequence of his physician's advice. I believe he carries with him a commercial and postal treaty. The importance of this treaty is very great to the two countries. A postal treaty has long been needed, and the importance of a commercial treaty is too great for the United States to lose sight of at the present time. General Gadsden has of late been too closely confined by the annoyances heaped upon him by the issues between this country and the United States; and these of late have been rapidly increasing, until now it seems to me that there is no alternative left but for the United States to enforce an honest respect to the rights of her citizens trading with this country. Consuls have been discharged who have been exercising their functions for years; quiet commercial men have been imprisoned, and their business suspended, without a trial; one hundred and twenty American citizens, who supposed they were enlisting in the cause of liberty against the tyranny of Santa Ana, have been imprisoned, chained, beaten through a wild country for a distance of seven hundred and fifty miles, naked, starving and sick, relying upon the charity of what few foreigners they could meet for the little comforts they could get, and have been branded as "pirates" for the last five months, without being able to get a trial; an American (!) whale-ship has been seized as a prize, because it was the victim of fraud, (or mistake of power,) practiced by persons regularly authorized by General Alvarez, and this ship, although the captain threw himself on the protection of this Government so soon as he learned his position, has been virtually confiscated, without as much as an investigation being made into the merits of her case, and her captain and officers held prisoners for five months without a trial. These, with many other cases, have been heaped upon General Gadsden, until he has worked himself down so low that nature could hold out no longer, and he has gone home to recruit himself. He is expected back here again within two months.

The Spanish Minister, Señor Sras, left here this morning, to take the Tenas of the 8th, on his return to Spain. I learn that his mission has been very unsatisfactory to his Government, and that his place is to be filled by a diplomat of more determination and less diplomacy. There are serious grievances between Mexico and Spain, concerning the Spanish conventional debt and other claims, which have arisen out of the late revolution against Santa Ana.

The road between here and Vera Cruz is reported to be in a safe condition. A strong guard has been put on to keep the robbers down; but on many of the other roads the robbers are very troublesome. A report was in circulation here, that the British Consul of Acapulco with his lady, had been murdered on their way from this city to Acapulco, by the robbers. As this report may have found its way into some of the papers in New-York, I take pleasure in contradicting the report. The British Minister here, feeling anxious about the matter, wrote to friends on the road for information, and this morning received letters from different parties contradicting the report, as well as one from the Consul himself, who had arrived alive and well at Acapulco.

The Archibald Gracie expedition is still in status quo, so far as the action of this Government is concerned. Admiral Lerman was refused an audience by Alvarez, and is now supposed to be on his way back to this city. It is understood that Gen. Gadsden, before his departure, made a bold demand in relation to this matter, and in case this demand be not respected will write to San Francisco to have the Independence proceed at once to capture the Archibald Gracie and Rebecca Adams. This is the only way in which this matter can ever be settled. The men are arriving here in a destitute condition. For the honor of the nation they hail from something should be done for them.

BUSINESS BEFORE CONGRESS—THE BISHOP OF PUEBLA OR THE HARD REVOLUTION—THE LA PAZ EXPEDITION—EXPECTED CHANGES IN THE MINISTRY—THE GOVERNMENT VS. THE CHURCH—BANISHMENT OF GENERAL LA VEGA—AMNESTY TO PRISONERS—A CRUSHING LAW FOR THE CLERGY.

By the arrival at New-Orleans of the steamship Texas, we have news from Vera Cruz to the 8th, and from the City of Mexico to the 5th of May. The papers contain no political intelligence of special importance. We take the following from the New-Orleans Picayune:

Congress is engaged in revising the acts of the last Administration of Santa Ana. Some of these acts have been approved, but many annulled. A rumor existed that the Mesilla Valley Treaty was under discussion, and was to be abrogated. This seems not to be the fact. It came up in order as a measure of Santa Ana's Government, without any intention to disturb it.

The Bishop of Puebla has addressed a long communication to the President, to vindicate his conduct in the revolution of Hana y Tamaris. He admits having loaned money, but denies having aided in any other manner to advance his cause. The reply of the Minister of Justice is stinging, handling the Bishop with a severe lashing, and showing clearly that, without the assistance of the clergy there would have been no bloodshed.

Admiral Lerman, of the La Paz expedition to Lower California, has gone to the State of Guerrero, to SPANISH AFFAIRS.

Great Review and Delivery of Standards by the Queen at Madrid—Appearance of the Various Corps—The Huntsmen—the Artillery—the Cavalry—Madrid Ladies gone to Valladolid—Senor Osma—Affairs at Valentia—Espartero—The Militia Disarmed—Trouble in the Cortes—Ministerial Difficulties.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

PARIS, Thursday, May 1, 1856.

The newspapers from Madrid bring accounts of the grand review of 40,000 men by the Queen on the 20th inst. It seems to have been a brilliant affair—the Queen in an open carriage drawn by six horses, with a crowd of general officers about it. Field-Marshal Espartero, the Duke of Victory, on the right; Marshal O'Donnell, Minister of War, on the left; Marshal Concha, Marquis of the Duero, elder brother to Captain-General Concha, of Cuba, beside Espartero; Marshal the Duke of San Miguel, who saves Madrid and the Queen in 1854; Gen. Ros de Olano, Commander-in-Chief of the Infantry of the Kingdom; Gen. Serrano, Commander-in-Chief of the Artillery; the Ministers of the Crown; Gen. Ferraz, Inspector-General of the National Militia; and a crowd of officers of less note, followed by a brilliant escort of lancers, dragoons, and lancers of the militia, made up a Royal staff, the admired of all admirers.

After the consecration of the banners of the battalions of the militia of the province in the presence of the Queen and her staff, of the French Ambassador, the Minister of the United States, Mr. Dodge of Iowa, and other great dignitaries, they were conducted in a Royal carriage to the wide space or promenade called the Saloon of the Prado, and there delivered by the Queen in person to the various corps, the roar of cannon announcing to the most distant spectators the delivery of each banner. The standards of the infantry regiments are handsomely embroidered silk flags—purple ground and designs in golden colored silk, surrounded with a crescent, as the Spaniards call it, of the colors of Spain.

The artillery and cavalry carry a golden lion, about ten or twelve inches long, and proportionate height, with his paw on a little world, just big enough for him, and a crescent drooping on the staff beneath him. It is really a very handsome toy to fight about.

The standards all blessed and confided to their respective corps, Espartero made a speech in the name of the Queen, and the Royal cortège moved to take up a position in front of the Ministry of War, at the bottom of the great street of Alcala, leading up into the centre of the city from the Prado to the Puerta del Sol. Then the defile of the troops before the Queen commenced. First passed the Infantry marching at double quick step, in column of companies, bands playing, and colors displayed in battalions of from 900 to 1,200 strong, with that light, swift, springing step for which the Spaniards are remarkable, and which makes them the best marchers in the world. The Cazadores, or huntsmen, were particularly remarked. They appeared in their new uniform—red pantaloons to the knee, the lower leg close buttoned in gaiters of dark cloth, a tunic, or frock of blue, with red and green trimmings, and a shako of white felt, top of patent leather, something in the form of a common Scotch bonnet, with a visor and a cockade stuck in front, green loops and trimmings. This shako sheds rain, is very light, and can be doubled up like a Scotch bonnet and put in the knapsack. Every man carries a water-proof poncho strapped on to the knapsack.

The Cazadores are all armed with the Minnié rifle, and are an exceedingly martial-looking corps. At the practice in the Queen's wood of the Pardo, the other day, a batallion of 900 men, hit their mark of a single man, 90 times in every 100 shots, at 350 paces. Good huntsmen, those!

Then came the artillery—on the trot—each battery consisting of eight bronze pieces, 6 12-pounders and two 24-pounder howitzers, harnessed each with six of those splendid great Spanish mules, who whipped them over the stony street like playthings. Then the mountain artillery, each piece a short light 12-pounder howitzer, mounted on the back of a huge mule, attended by two companions, one just before him carrying the gun carriage, and another just behind carrying the ammunition. On the saddle of the latter was the same contrivance for securing the piece as on the first named, so that if the first should die suddenly, his companion, whose nose now formed so intimate an acquaintance with his own tail, would become his successor in another sense, and carry off the gun. Next came the mounted artillery, a splendid corps, every man mounted on a fine Andalusian horse, with sabre and pistols. Every piece, and caisson, harnessed with six horses, of the breed of the Guadalquivier, which still retains its Arab blood, and who charged past Her Majesty at full gallop almost like light cavalry.

The Spaniards are pretty proud of their artillery. It has been traditionally good throughout all their history, and I can testify from personal inspection on a former visit that the reputation is not undeserved. The present day, they are expert gunners, and the material, horse-flesh, and whole equipment of their batteries is of the first order. I seriously doubt, also, whether, for actual campaigning our [illegible] Committee of Inquiry appointed by Congress seem to be utterly ignored by the whole Pro-Slavery press in this region as well as in the South. While they have been denouncing as false the statements made from time to time by correspondents of the Times and other papers concerning affairs in Kansas, they are utterly silent as to this official and authoritative development of facts. The Herald of this City does not seem to be aware that any such Committee has ever been appointed. It has never given a syllable of the testimony taken before it, nor afforded its readers the slightest information upon this subject. In the case of the Herald, this may be explained by the fact that it has almost entirely ceased to be a newspaper, in any sense of the word. But why other journals, professing to give intelligence of everything of interest that occurs in any part of the world, should follow its example, we can only conjecture. Possibly they do not deem it important that their readers shall have the truth upon this subject, which they may consider of trifling concern. We do not quarrel with their judgments, if this be their opinion; but certainly it does not agree with our own. We have regarded the drama now enacting in Kansas, in the principles involved and the results likely to follow, as by far the most important transaction of the times; and we have accordingly taken special pains to lay before the readers of the TIMES a full, fair, and unbiased report of the facts elicited by the Congressional Committee of Inquiry. We prefer not to accompany the report itself with any comments, but to reserve these for our editorial columns. So far as we have yet seen, the TIMES is the only paper in the United States which has taken this course. We should be inclined to infer from this that we had overrated the importance of the subject, if we did not find our reports widely copied by the best journals of the Northern and Western States. We are confident our readers will welcome this full presentation of the testimony upon which the action of Congress concerning Kansas must be based.

Responsibility for the Outrages in Kansas.

It should never be forgotten that the cause of all the troubles in Kansas is the refusal of Congress to do its duty. The plain letter of the Constitution and the unbroken precedents in the history of our Government commit to Congress the right and the duty of "making all needful rules and regulations" concerning the Territories of the United States. Congress has no more right to repudiate this duty than any other. The obligation is solemnly imposed upon it by the Constitution of legislating for these infant communities,—of regulating their internal affairs until the increase of their population and the general development of their civil life shall have qualified them for admission into the Union and the exercise of that sovereignty which belongs to individual States. It was in this way that the Territories were to be saved from the evils incident to new and unformed communities.

In such a Territory as Kansas the subject of Slavery is precisely the one upon which the legislation of Congress is the most required. Bordering as it does upon both Slave and Free States, it was certain to be made the field of contention and of strife between the two:—and when so much of political power for the Union at large depends upon the issue, it might easily have been foreseen that unless it were determined by positive law that Slavery should or should not be prohibited from Kansas, the battle to be fought upon her soil would be fierce and bloody. Every consideration of safety and the public peace, therefore, as well as every dictate of duty, demanded that Congress, by positive legislation, should fix the character of Kansas upon this subject so long as it should remain a Territory. And it is only because Congress refused to discharge this duty,—and even repealed what it had previously done in regard to it, that Kansas is now in a state of anarchy and confusion. The true remedy for this state of things is indicated by this indication of the origin of the evil. Congress ought immediately to determine the question of Slavery in Kansas. It ought to retrace the false step it has taken, in abdicating its constitutional functions, and throwing upon others duties and obligations which the Constitution imposes upon it. Unfortunately, under our complicated system of checks and balances, it is much easier to do a wrong than to apply a remedy. The Executive and the Senate stand pledged to the interest of Slavery, and will commit any wrong and any outrage in its behalf. The voice of the People, as expressed by their direct and immediate representatives, may be overwhelmingly in favor of Free Institutions;—but it is powerless against these oligarchical departments of our Republican Government.

The thing which is necessary above all others, not only for the restoration of peace and order in Kansas, but for the preservation of the Union from the absolute domination of Slavery,—is the election of a PRESIDENT not pledged to the extension and perpetuation of Human Bondage. If we could have for four years an Executive who would not throw the whole patronage and power of the nation into the scale against freedom and the rights of the Free States, we should have the just balance restored, and the rights of freedom peacefully recognized and established. Now the path of preferment lies exclusively through devotion to Slavery. The faintest suspicion of regard for the principles of human freedom upon which all our institutions are professedly based,—the slightest rumor of dislike of Slavery and of a desire to see it ultimately disappear,—operates with the Executive like an indefeasible brand of ignominy, and forever disqualifies for the humblest office of public trust. To such an extent has this servility to Slavery been carried by President Pierce, that thousands and tens of thousands of sterling Democrats in this and other States, who labored zealously and successfully for his election, have left the party in disgust at the action and clear their skirts from the ignominy that will forever attend it. "Who does not know," say these men in the able address they have issued upon the subject, "that, however pure the character, however transcendent the ability, however satisfactory in other respects the political creed of an individual may be, if unsound on the subject of Slavery, he might as well expect exemption from the inexorable demands of death, as promotion at the hands of the President and Senate of the United States." The power of the Federal patronage in controlling public sentiment and in overruling political action, is far greater than is generally imagined. It is not too much to say that, under ordinary circumstances and in the absence of any special topic of public interest, it can entirely control the ballot box of the nation. This vast power is now wielded inexorably and remorselessly for the extension of Slavery and the enlargement of its political power. It will be exerted in Congress against the admission of Kansas as a Free State, and in favor of forcing Slavery upon its inhabitants against their will. If it should ultimately fail in its wicked purpose, it will be because the people of the Union are thoroughly roused to the importance of the crisis that is upon them.

War with Great Britain—Counting the Cost.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, May 17, 1856.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

I was much pleased with your editorial to-day, capped "The War Fever—CRAMPTON's Recall;" but, while perusing it, my attention was temporarily withdrawn by a social conversation in a Club reading-room between two gentlemen, one of whom had been a prominent member of Congress, and who advanced the theory that, "though a war with Great Britain for two or three years might prove disastrous to us, yet if it were continued for ten years it would certainly yield us a crop of wealth and a more complete independence, by its progressive development of our own proper resources and the achievement of a freedom from an onerous foreign indebtedness, arising from the continual excess of our imports over the value of our exported productions, which cannot be constitutionally restrained, and also from our constant efforts to increase our already large borrowings of foreign capital."

It is a subtle notion that either people engaged for ten years in wasting their time, blood and treasure, and exhausting their Government resources, instead of each being united to the peaceful pursuits of agriculture, trade, commerce, and internal improvement—commonly regarded as the sources whence material wealth has been accumulated—could possibly enrich any portion of either of these nations so antagonistically engaged; unless it might be the few specially employed in preparing or dealing in munitions of war. I am curious to read your sentiments respecting such a theory; because, though I have no pretensions nor aspirations towards statesmanship, I should delight in the discovery of any new scheme of greater national independence or aggrandisement.

AN OLD THINKER.

No great depth of thinking, or knowledge of political philosophy, is required to solve the question of the profitableness or unprofitableness of war. Of all human labor war is the least calculated to advance the prosperity of a nation, unless it be undertaken to secure the liberties of the people. War is no more profitable than pestilence, famine, earthquakes, conflagrations, floods, or any other great disturbing causes which destroy life, waste property, and desolate nations; and the savage theory that a non-intercourse with other nations is calculated to develop healthily the internal resources of a nation is most forcibly illustrated in the case of China and Japan. The great object which we have always aimed at, as a people, is an unrestricted intercourse with the other nations of the earth, and it was to secure this that our last war with England was undertaken. It was in the furtherance of this great object that we recently sent the costly expedition, under the command of Commodore PERRY, to Japan; and it is for this that we maintain our diplomatic system in all parts of the earth. A war with England would, unquestionably, lead to a greater development of our mining and manufacturing resources in certain articles; but then the cutting off of our export trade would diminish our productive forces in another direction, which would more than counterbalance all the benefits which we might derive from a state of international non-intercourse. Our fisheries, for example, would be utterly destroyed, and the entire whaling business, now so profitable to us, and upon which many large towns wholly rely, would be completely swallowed up. And the destruction of this great business would be no less disastrous to Great Britain than to ourselves. The machinery of England could not be kept in motion without the sperm oil which we send her, even though she could find cotton elsewhere to supply her with materials, or customers to purchase the goods she manufactures.

But, to argue on the consequences of a war between England and the United States, is like arguing as to the consequences of the earth ceasing to revolve for twenty-four hours. It is not an event likely to happen. The interests of the two nations are so complicated, so interwoven and dependent upon each other, that whenever a war shall happen, it will be because in the natural course of events it cannot be avoided; it will be from the dire necessity of self-preservation, and not on a point of honor.

We are apparently on the eve of a suspension of diplomatic intercourse with England; but then we are also on the eve of a change of Administrations in both countries, and nothing can be easier than for the new parties coming into power to open an intercourse on a new basis, and for the blunders committed by former diplomatic agents to be corrected. We shall not be able, yet awhile, to see the effects of a non-intercourse with that country, growing out of the present complicated questions on the Central American and enlistment difficulties. When war breaks out between the two nations, it will be for some more serious affairs than are involved in either of these questions.

Senator James' Patent Bill.

When the exciting topics which are now engrossing the attention of the Senate shall have been disposed of, the very remarkable bill introduced by Senator JAMES, of Rhode Island, on the 9th inst., to amend our Patent Laws, will doubtless come up for consideration, and cannot fail to attract a warm discussion. Mr. JAMES' bill properly revises charges of so [illegible] must reject so many important public measures, that it will not be permitted to slip through the Senate without a searching investigation. The bill has an innocent look enough on its face, but a close examination of its principles will show that the amendments which it proposes to the existing laws are not calculated to promote the public good, though they may possibly be of great profit to certain individual interests.

Fillmore Status.

A letter from Hon. JOHN P. KENNEDY to J. N. REYNOLDS, Esq., of this City, has been published in the Cincinnati Daily Times, stating that there is not the least reason to doubt the unqualified acceptance of the American nomination for the Presidency by Mr. FILLMORE. Mr. KENNEDY volunteers the opinion that the prospects of Mr. FILLMORE are better than those of any man who can be brought against him, and, in his large and liberal manner, says, with the air of an Owen Glendower, "In the South I give him Delaware, Maryland, North Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee as certain," &c. But giving States to Presidential candidates is as easy as calling spirits from the vasty deep.

Portrait of Crampton.

The uppermost man in public talk to-day is CRAMPTON; how long he will remain so must be determined by President PIERCE. He forms one of a trio of notabilities who engross public attention for the moment, but who may be all forgotten a year hence. General WALKER, the Padre VIJIL and Mr. CRAMPTON, are the men of the time; but the weightiest interests rest upon CRAMPTON. Any one curious to know how the much-talked-of diplomatist looks, may see an admirable portrait of him at the rooms of FAGNANI, in Broadway, which was painted by that artist when he accompanied Sir HENRY BULWER to Washington. The portrait of CRAMPTON, which is said to be a speaking likeness of him, represents as unscrious a gentleman as you would be likely to meet in a Summer-day, and just the kind of person who would not be likely to care a brass-button whether a statement were strictly correct or not if it only served his purposes for the moment. There is nothing of the stuck-up air of an aristocrat about CRAMPTON, or indeed there should not be, for his father, though a baronet, is a practicing physician in Dublin, who may, with entire truth, be said to have bled in his country's service, and therefore has a much better right to the bloody hand in his shield than many others who wear it.

FAGNANI, who painted the head of CRAMPTON in question, came to this country with Sir HENRY BULWER, without any intention of remaining here, but having married a "fair American," he has set up his easel among us and become as much of a Yankee as an Italian can in so brief a time. His portraits are calculated to give a much better opinion of modern Italian art than is popularly entertained.

Death of an Old Citizen.

One of the oldest of our citizens, BENJAMIN STEPHENS, died on Monday night in New-Jersey, near New-Brunswick, in the 86th year of his age. He was a native of Monmouth County, New-Jersey, and, early in life, a house carpenter; but he was an active merchant in this City for many years, and a cotemporary in business of JOHN JACOB ASTOR, STEPHEN WHITNEY, and that class of merchants who laid the foundation of the mercantile supremacy of New-York. There are but few of them now remaining. Mr. STEPHENS invested his money in real estate, and he was among the wealthiest men of the Empire City. He was the father of the celebrated JOHN L. STEPHENS, the traveler and author, who fell a martyr to his indomitable perseverance in prosecuting that great enterprise which has proved a boon to the civilized world, the Panama Railroad.

A CAPACIOUS HOUSE.—The proprietor of the Burnett House, Cincinnati, telegraphs that his house is not full for the Convention, as has been rumored. He has accommodations for five thousand persons, and expects to entertain every State delegation from all parts of the Union.

Musical.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—VERDI's Opera of "Luisa Miller," will be revived to-night in the Academy of Music, for the first time in two years. Mme. LA GRANGE, Mme. D'OBRY, Signor BOLCIONI, Signor BADIALI and others, are in the cast.

TABERNACLE.—A band of Glee singers—the BRAHMANS—gave a very peculiar, agreeable, and excellent Concert last evening. They sung the National songs of their Mountain home, harmonized for six voices, and filled with pleasing contrasts and effects—the results of long practice. The freshness, power and purity of the voices are quite remarkable. They sing in their native costume, and altogether offer a very original and excellent entertainment. The BRAHMANS singers were assisted by Miss BRAHMAN, the brothers GASPARD, (piano,) and M. CHARLES SAGE.

DODSWORTH'S SALOON.—Signor MANZOCCHI announces a Grand Concert for Thursday next, May 22, (to-morrow.) It will be an unusually interesting event, and we trust there will be a good attendance. Signoras BERTPOCA MARESCHI and VESTRARI with Signors BELLOLI, AMODIO, ROVERE and GASPARONI will assist.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Mr. Augustus Wood Turns Up.

In the investigation on Thursday last before the Special Committee of the Councilmen in relation to the Reade-street corruption case, mention was made of "Mr. AUGUSTUS WOOD," who, according to one of the witnesses, had offered "for $1,000" to "kill" the proposed bill to widen Reade-street. The witness "knew nothing of Mr. AUGUSTUS WOOD," other than that a man bearing such a name sought him out and made the proposition. An inquiry at the time made in the presence of many Common Councilmen and other public functionaries, who are supposed to be posted in the existence and antecedents of every public lobbyer, as to who this "Mr. AUGUSTUS WOOD" was, brought no response. The oldest "City Hall jobbers" placed their hands thoughtfully on their temples but could not recollect him; and Mr. NUNS declared himself ignorant. Ever since that day the great question at the City Hall has been, "Who is Mr. AUGUSTUS WOOD?" It pleases us to be able to state that "Mr. AUGUSTUS WOOD" has "turned up;" that he is no myth, but "lives, moves and has a being" in the City, and keeps a land agency office well up town. He confesses to be an occasional "looker on" at the proceedings of the Common Council. He is a humorist, he says, and likes fun vastly. He met Mr. TWEED at the Councilmen's chamber, and knowing his desire to defeat the measure for the widening of Reade-street, he told him he would "kill" the measure for $1,000. He intended the remark as a funny one, and was surprised that Mr. TWEED did not laugh; but his not laughing, he supposed, was simply evidence of his non-appreciation of a good joke. As he has since discovered that Mr. TWEED is emphatically an earnest character, he intends to take up the matter earnestly himself, and now states that he will make Mr. TWEED—as he can't take a joke—"swallow his words." Mr. AUGUSTUS WOOD, we conclude, bids fair to become known to the New-York public.

Season Very Forward.

Yesterday afternoon a horse attached to a doctor's vehicle ran from Elm, near the corner of Franklin-street, to Broadway, dashed madly upon the sidewalk—backing on the west and least unfrequented side—to White-street, where he was stopped. The [illegible] occurred at the Refuge on Monday. A colored boy employed in the chair-shop of Mr. A. M. DEBEVOISE, was caught in the revolving machine and his hand and arm crushed to a jelly. The mangled arm was amputated just above the elbow the same night by Dr. HENRY M. WHITNEY. He was a smart, active boy, and the accident has created a great sensation in the little circle of the Refuge.

☞ The Maine Law of our State was not utterly inoperative it seems. In the Insolvent Debtor's Court (London) in one of the examinations it was stated by the insolvent, who had been a bottled ale merchant, that the Maine Liquor Law at New-York had partly occasioned his insolvency, as some bottled beer he sent out was not sold, as he expected, on account of that law.

☞ "Peale's" old "Museum," on Broadway, near Murray, looks rather shaky since the corner house adjoining has been torn down. FRANCIS, the bookseller, who last occupied it, has gone farther up-town.

☞ Our country had a rich bequest from the old country yesterday, in the shape of 2,567 souls, arrived in five emigrant ships from Liverpool, London, Bremen and Havre.

☞ The removal of the bones of the dead from the Brick Churchyard goes on with all quietness and decency. The remains are put into small boxes and transferred to the Cemetery of the Evergreens.

☞ The Governors of the Almshouse met at Randall's Island yesterday, in regular weekly session. Nothing special done.

☞ The Courrier says, a Russian steam squadron now at Cronstadt, was to leave there in May for North America, under the command of Admiral WARNKOWITSCH.

Judge McLean on Slavery in the Territories.

In his recent speech on Kansas Affairs, Gen. CASS referred to the views of Judge McLEAN on this question in such a manner as to create an erroneous impression in regard to them. This called out the following note. It is at once explicit and emphatic:

MY DEAR SIR: A friend states to me recently that he understood you to say that I did not consider that Congress had power, under the Constitution, to prohibit Slavery in a Territory. I never doubted that Congress had this power, and I could never have expressed any doubt on the subject.

You may remember that I have in conversations with you often said that Congress, having the power to establish a Territorial Government, might, in the exercise of a police power, prohibit Slavery, if they had no constitutional power to prohibit it.

I informed you at that time that I was now in opinion, and had long been, that the prohibition of Slavery was a police regulation, and not a violation of the constitutional rights of the citizen. Very truly yours,

JOHN MCLEAN.

TO MY BIG SWEETHEART.

My arm was long, never mind,
And so I put it round
Her, the heart of all the girls—
But I wish I was twice my size!
Then I could kiss her cheek,
Or venture her lips to take,
But now I only reach to her shoulder
She (for around her neck
Crooked—drop of my heart!
I am not brave, I confess!
Like a peppermint stick I stand apart
In a peppermint stick fashion
When you look down on me,
And the inner core of my eye
Feel as if something had got in my throat,
And was choking against the sting.

I passed your garden, and there
On the clothes lines, hung a few
Pantalettes, and one tall pair
Reminded me, love, of you;
And I thought, as I swung on the gate,
In the cold by myself alone,
How soon the sweetness of hearhound dies,
But the bitter keeps on and on.

It was quite touching to see how solemnly the old soldiers listened when this was being read to them; and when I came to the lines—

"I feel as if something had got in my throat,
And was choking against the sung"—

I habitually looked up with questioning eyes, as if he would have said, "how did you know that?"

THE GREAT WEST IN 1856.
THE STATES AND TERRITORIES
OF
THE GREAT WEST,
INCLUDING
OHIO, INDIANA, ILLINOIS, MISSOURI, MICHIGAN, WISCONSIN, MINNESOTA, IOWA, KANSAS, AND NEBRASKA.
WITH
Geography, History, Advantages, Resources and Prospects; comprising their Local History, Institutions and Laws.
Giving a Table of Distances, and the most Direct Routes and Modes of Conveyance; also, pointing out the Best Districts for Agricultural, Commercial, Lumbering, and Mining Operations.
BY JACOB PERKIN.
In one volume, with a New and Accurate Map, embracing each of the above States and Territories, and numerous Illustrations. About 400 pages. Price, cloth, $1 25.
THE GREAT WEST is emphatically the work for the general reader and the business and pleasure-traveler, as it accurately delineates the localities in which capital and enterprise can most profitably be employed, and those in which the territories are most interesting. It is the book for those who have homes or friends, or interests in the West, and is, therefore, interesting to all, as the West is now intimately connected by business interests or by family ties with every portion of the civilized world.
This book also supplies a great deficiency in our literature. Most other books upon the West are confined to some limited range of country, and are filled either with adventures across the plains and over the mountains, or with details of mere local interest. But this takes a comprehensive view of THE WHOLE WEST.
The author possesses the rare experience of the West, having visited almost every part of it this side of the Rocky Mountains, to obtain a knowledge of the country, the progress of settlements, and the manners of the people.
Ready May 26, and for sale by all Booksellers, News and Traveling Agents, to whom liberal terms are offered.

A PHENOMENON IN LITERATURE.
WILL BE PUBLISHED ON SATURDAY, MAY 24:
PAUL FERROLL: A TALE FROM THE FOURTH LONDON EDITION, 12mo, Cloth, $1.
NOTICES OF THE PRESS.
From the Morning Post.
"Paul Ferroll" is a most strikingly original production. It may be regarded as a phenomenon in literature—a book that must be read, and cannot be forgotten.
From the Morning Chronicle.
The fruit of much thought and original genius is presented in this tale in the character of "Paul Ferroll." . . . We do not need to be told how he felt and why he acted thus and thus; it will be obvious to most minds from the very opening pages; but the power of the story is not weakened by this early knowledge; rather, it is heightened, since the artistic force of contrast is carried out in the two figures who cling so closely together in their fond human love.
From the Globe.
"Paul Ferroll" is a book that will be very much read, talked about, and marvelled at.
From the Examiner.
The art displayed in presenting "Paul Ferroll" throughout the story is beyond all praise.
From the Athenæum.
The incidents of the book are extremely well managed.
From the Economist.
It is one of the most singular and striking works we have ever read.
From the John Bull.
To all the elements of powerful effect, the story adds the merit of being quite good and healthy writing.
From the New Quarterly.
We have seldom read so powerful a romance. We can find no fault in it as a work of art. It leaves us in admiration, almost in awe, of the powers of its author.

TRIEBNER'S NO. 1—Is the remedy of general and local debility, loss of vitale power, premature decay, and all the disorders consequent upon early indiscretion, and all the disorders that would become important, even in the prime of life, if the Triebner remedies were generally adopted. All physicians, and those who have used the Triebner, know it to be the most powerful invigorating tonic known. Triebner No. 1 is invaluable to those entering the married state.

TRIEBNER No. 2—Completely and entirely eradicates all traces of those disorders which convert and unfit the mind and body for the married state, to the ruin of the health of a vast portion of the population.

TRIEBNER No. 3—Is the great European remedy for that class of disorders which, unfortunately, the English physician treats with mercury, to the inevitable destruction of the patient's constitution, and without all the disagreeable effects of mercury.

TRIEBNER Nos. 1, 2 and 3—Are alike devoid of taste or smell, and all connecting conditions. They may lay on the table unobserved, without their use being detected.

Sold in the order of 3d each, or four times the quantity for $1. Each one is a full cure, whenever, where it is a case for it. Sold by Druggists, Chemists, &c., and by Valentine, Lallemand, Mary, &c.

To be had, wholesale and retail, and dispensed immediately, at the Office, Depot, and Laboratory, No. 2 Park-place, New-York. Hours of consultation and attendance daily, from 11 A. M. till 2 P. M., and from 4 to 10 P. M., Sundays excepted, unless by previous appointment.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—Mr. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common native weeds a remedy that cures every kind of humor, from the worst scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over 1,100 cases, and never failed, except in two cases, both thunder humors. He has now in his possession over 500 certificates of its virtues, all within the last two years.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eye.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the eyes and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of itch.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, I published over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. Be sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial, it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appear to me remarkable: first, that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846; second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day. In April, 1854, I sold over a thousand bottles per day.

Its change of diet over necessary—eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children over 5 years, dessert spoonful; children from 3 to 5 years, tea-spoonful. As any direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of Scrofula.

ARTHUR'S CELEBRATED PATENT SELF-SEALING CANS AND JARS.—Used last year by thousands of families, hotel and boarding housekeepers with the most complete success. Twenty-four diplomas were awarded these CANS and JARS last season. On all hands they are acknowledged to be the safest, simplest and most reliable in market. There is no additional cost of wrenches, funnels or wax—no trouble with screws, nor spoiling of fruit by contact with India-rubber or other offensive substance. The CANS and JARS are all prepared for sealing, and the purchaser has only to heat the cover slightly when the can or jar is filled with fresh fruit and press it down into the channel on the outside filled with cement, and the work of hermetically sealing is done. They sustain no injury in opening, and may be used year after year. The lid covers the whole top, so that when open they can be fastened like any other open vessel. The Cans are made of stout tin, and the Jars of fire-proof yellow ware. They most amply, thus insuring great economy in freight. The sizes of Cans are pint, quart, half gallon and gallon; Jars pint and quart. Full directions for putting up fresh fruit, &c., accompany them. Extension of State-Avenue.

An application is to be presented to the Common Council in a few days, for the extension of State-avenue from its intersection with Bleecker-street, in a straight line to the corner of Laurens and Greene streets. The object is to effect a different extension of Laurens-street from that now before the Common Council. The present proposition, if it is confirmed, is to widen Laurens-street to 60 feet to the width of West Broadway, and extend it to the Washington Parade Ground to connect with Fifth-avenue. There is strong opposition to opening the street through Washington-square. This is the main reason for getting up the present plan. They urge the extension of State-avenue along Bowery-street to the Battery, and to open a straight, wide and uninterrupted thoroughfare from the Battery to Harlem River.

Twelfth Ward Republican Association.

At a meeting of the Thirteenth Ward Republican Association, held at No. 5 Cannon-street, on Monday evening, Mr. EDWARD COLLIER and Mr. ABNER E. COLE were elected Delegates to the City Convention, for the election of Delegates to the Republican State Convention, to meet at Syracuse on the 20th inst. On motion, it was resolved that the Delegates be instructed to present JOHN A. LOCKWOOD and DAVID A. PODGER as Delegates to the said State Convention.

Republicans.

EDWARD MCMULLEN and O. J. ROUK are the Delegates to the Central Republican Committee, from the Fifth Ward.

EDWARD COLLIER and ABNER H. COLE are the Delegates from the Thirteenth Ward to the City Republican Convention.

The Queens County Republicans have delegated Messrs. ROBERT E. GRIFFITH and WM. W. LELAND Delegates to Syracuse.

Soft Soap vs. Hardware.

The Trustees of the Fourth Ward Public Schools held a stormy meeting on Monday evening. The cause of the disturbance was as follows: It seems one Trustee, Mr. WARD, who is one of the Board of Trustees, also, had given instructions to the Janitors of the various school-houses in the Ward to collect all waste cast-off soap and send from a man who had for years been in the habit of supplying the Schools with soap, but who, unfortunately, had failed to receive from the Chairman aforesaid; at least, this was the charge which was made against Mr. WARD by one of the Trustees, Mr. FITZGERALD, at the monthly meeting on Monday. A very fierce war of words followed the accusation.

Mr. WARD denied the soft impeachment.

Mr. FITZGERALD opened his batteries and returned the shot, and a brisk cannonade was kept up between the parties and their respective friends until the Chairman finally left his chair and resigned his office. Hereupon there was a revulsion of feeling; the guns for peace were ordered into, and after some little time spent in arranging the preliminaries it was finally considered that Mr. CROW, the soft soap man should be allowed to supply the schools with his extract of boiled bones, and he, of course, carried the day over all rivals.

☞ The critic of the Tribune, in a racy review of the piece entitled "Abou Hassan," produced at the Bowery Theatre, favors us with the following extraordinary passage. Speaking of that gentleman's performance "ye critic" says: "Mr. BURTON opened up with volatile merriment." This, to the best of our knowledge, is a singular proceeding on the part of Mr. BURTON. We have heard of a gentleman who had swallowed too many soda powders, when his head flew and he went off like a bottle of soda-water, but we can see no reason whatever for this extraordinary effervescence on the part of Mr. BURTON. We know already that Mr. BURTON was frequently "the life of an author," but we never expected him to come to cream. Then, how can any one imagine Mr. BURTON volatile? One would as soon compare BARNUM LAUNCH to an autelope." It is evident to us that the critic of the Tribune can know very little about the critic of the Tribune, being evidently a very milk-and-water critic.

Aid for the Cape de Verde Islanders.

The Committee appointed at the Corn Exchange meeting of the 8th inst., to solicit aid for the starving inhabitants of the Cape de Verde Islands, met yesterday at 3 P. M., at the Exchange. It was announced that $2,000 had been already contributed in money and provisions, and that a vessel loaded with the donations would be dispatched to the islands early in June. A letter was read, stating that five hundred bushels of wheat and corn had been shipped to the Committee, in aid of this charity, from Alexandria, Va. Notice was given that contributions of money and provisions, for shipment to those unhappy islanders, could be consigned to Thomas Fanue, Esq.

Opening of the Bank of Chatham-street and Park-row.

The Alderman Committee on Streets, BRIGGS Chairman, met yesterday and decided to report in favor of conference with the Councilmen in changing the name of Chatham-street and Park-row to Park-avenue. The opposition to extend Canal-street across the West-street to the North River, was withdrawn, but it was not so in Bleecker-street, however.

☞ Can any one tell the Directors of the Harlem Railroad and tell us why they have put up a cabin fully arranged time-table, showing the trains leaving the City from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M., and then not again until 5, and why they then speed three trains into one hour and a quarter?

—Why the people in Harlem are not to have the privilege of going to the City between 5 in the morning and nearly 3 in the afternoon?

—Why the 6:40 P. M. train from Harlem south, which was the train for all persons wishing to visit the City in the evening, or parties returning therefrom, is withdrawn, and no train substituted until 7¼, and then two trains within 25 minutes of each other?

—Why the trains do not come to a full stop before crossing the Drawbridge at Harlem, when the regulations say they shall do so?

—Why the 7¼ P. M. train is chased all the way down by a New-Haven train, so that it is scarcely three blocks ahead?

☞ A new Presbyterian Church was organized on Wednesday, the 14th inst, at Clifton, Staten Island. The services were conducted by a Committee from the Third Presbytery of New-York, consisting of Rev. Drs. Burchard and Campbell, Rev. Messrs. Roosevelt and MacLachlan, together with Messrs. D. Stevens and J. G. Hines.

The occasion was one of more than the usual interest from the fact that this is the first and only organization connected with that large branch of the Church (Presbyterian) on Staten Island.

The new Congregation have secured a site on Vanderbilt-avenue, in the centre of a growing population, and will commence in a few days a neat and tasteful edifice, which will serve as a preparatory step to the erection of the Church edifice.

Sale of a Valuable Library.

An extensive and rare sale of books, which will occupy nearly four days, commenced yesterday at the store of Messrs. Leavens, Sherman & Co., corner of Nassau-street and Broadway. We allude to the library lately belonging to a distinguished collector, Dr. O. Gaillard, U. S. N., of this City, who commenced making it while in the service of his country, and continued it for years, at great expense. The collection was very extensive, and contained many rare and valuable standard works, and is particularly rich in early editions of the English divines of the era of the Reformation and Puritanism. Besides these, there are many works illustrative of the progress of civil and religious liberty which cannot fail to be sold at very desirable acquisitions to the student of general as well of ecclesiastical history. Works on Missions, especially detailing the early struggles of missionary enterprise, early printed books, rare tracts, and a good proportion of later and more elegantly gilt-up literature, are not wanting. It is seldom that so careful a selection is consigned to the hammer.

☞ To prevent the curious crowd from blocking up Nassau, and making Beekman street impassable, while removing the ashes of the dead from the Brick Church yard, the workmen have put up a high board fence around it. Until sun-down, however, curious boys enjoyed some small glances of the disinterment through several feasible knot-holes. But this morning even the knot-holes will be found unavailable for a look,—the bill posters having covered the whole breadside with their reading for the million.

☞ The Padre VIJIL, Minister to the United States from Nicaragua, is stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel. He is an elderly gentleman of somewhat singular appearance and dress; below the medium stature; very dark complexion, and with a head and countenance denoting an Indian rather than Castilian origin. His expression is one of benevolence, rather than a high order of intellect. He is said to be a man of good education, though defective in English, and to all outward seeming, better suited to the offices of Church than the storms of State.

☞ The old Presbyterian Church, in Franklin-street, between West Broadway and Hudson, has been metamorphosed into a handsome market. It opened on Saturday under very favorable auspices. One thing we specially commend is the system they adopt in making change—counting by dollars and cents, instead of by shillings and pence—so that our good housewives will not have to submit to the customary shave of four cents on the dollar.

☞ The School Officers of the Eighteenth Ward have appealed to the inhabitants of their Ward for help to establish a school library—that greatest of secular comforts to hosts of boys and girls who want to read and have few funds to buy books with. The free libraries of the Brooklyn schools have done an excellent work for the schools that enjoy them and for the families of scholars in their attendance.

☞ The eastern side of the town is fast getting ripe for yellow fever. In a month more, with the kind inattention of Mr. ESLING, it will be ready for the reception of the distinguished stranger who has been so cordially invited. It smells right already.

☞ The large room under the rotunda of the Merchants' Exchange, lately occupied by the Bank of the State of New-York, has been converted into a Restaurant.

☞ The Evangelist has enlarged its sheet, and now appears with eight pages. Rev. J. G. CRAIGHEAD has been added to the establishment as one of the editors and proprietors.

Parade and Review of the Military.

The first Spring parade and review of the National Guard, composing the Seventh Regiment, under the command of Col. DUNTZE, took place in front of the City Hall on Monday afternoon.

The line was formed at 3 o'clock. A few evolutions were exceedingly well executed preceding the review by Gen. BAUCH, the Inspector-General, accompanied by Brigadier-General HALL and staff, Commissary-General WARD, and Colonels THOMPSON and HITCHMAN, of the Governor's staff. After Gen. BAUCH had passed down the line and returned to the front, the Regiment formed in sections by companies, and marched in review before the General. Then followed some further manœuvering, and the Regiment passed through the Park and up Broadway.

The Seventh is the fallest regiment in the division. It has eight infantry companies, besides one artillery and one cavalry company. It justly enjoys the reputation of being the best disciplined regiment in the State, and in all but one particular they well maintained this reputation yesterday. The exercises were performed with great precision and strict regard to military rules, and it was a pity to see all marred by the execrable manner in which the companies marched before the reviewing officer. As the left of the section was abreast of the officer, the centre was either two paces in the rear or as many in front, resembling a three-degree railroad curve. We have seen it far better done by a country battalion.

The 2d Brigade, under Gen. YATES—the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th Regiments—paraded also on Hamilton-square. The 11th Regiment (Washington Guards) paraded in Washington-square. The City Guard was out in full numbers, too. The fife and drum and loud bassoons were heard from morning to night. Thousands turned out to see the sights of the day.

The Turf for 1856.

UNION COURSE, L. I.—Trotting.—The race yesterday afternoon between Know-Nothing and Chicago Jack, was not up to the anticipations of the spectators in point of time. One heat was trotted in 2:32, and had Know Nothing come through at the top of his speed he could have made it in 2:27 or 8 but he was taken up at the draw-gate and jogged home. Jack trotted badly in the first heat, he was not warmed up enough beforehand, and it seemed that the black horse had nothing to do but win. The other heat he trotted finely. Betting on the result, previous to the start, was in favor of Jack, at $100 to $60. The first race was drawn, on account of Know-Nothing being lame, and they trotted for the track money. The following is the summary of the race:

Tuesday, May 20. Match, mile heats in harness.
S. McLAUGHLIN names Black G. Know Nothing..... 1 1
D. PIFFER names B. G. Chicago Jack..... 2 2
Time: first heat, quarter, 0:37; half mile, 1:36; mile, 2:37. Second heat, quarter, 0:37; half mile, 1:16; mile, 2:34.

Concerning the Oliver-street Marriage.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

An item in the columns of your paper of this morning, in reference to a marriage consummated by me at No. 75 Oliver-street, seems to involve me in the transaction in such a way as to make me a party to the trick. I beg leave, therefore, to state that the marriage took place by appointment, at 6½ o'clock in the morning, the parties, as it was stated to me by Mr. HAMADYE, wishing to leave in the early train for Boston; and that I was entirely ignorant of the circumstances under which the marriage was brought about, until I saw the statement in your paper this morning. This, I trust, will be sufficient to show that I was not conscious of any difficulty in the way of the marriage, and that I was in no way accessory to, or complicated with the affair.

Very respectfully yours, CHAS. J. JONES,
Pastor of the Mariners' Church.
NEW-YORK, Friday, May 17, 1856.

Morrisania Sabbath Schools.

A general gathering of the six or eight Sabbath Schools of the various denominations in Morrisania and its adjacent villages, was held on Thursday afternoon, the 15th inst., on the occasion of their anniversaries. The 1,000 or 1,200 children present were more than usually quiet and well-behaved, and their singing unsurpassed.

After brief addresses by Rev. Mr. KELLOGG of Morrisania, and Mr. R. G. PARKER of New-York, they marched in procession through the avenues of that pleasant village, and were then dismissed.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

THEY'LL NEVER LEARN.

On Monday evening a countryman, named John Williams, was robbed of a gold watch and some money, by means of the panel game, at the house No. 195 Fulton-street. The watch was recovered, and the woman arrested and committed for trial.

CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

John M. Fenety, confidential clerk in the employ of Mr. Alex. Brown, doing business at No. 162 West-street, was yesterday arrested by Officer Gray, of the Sixth Ward, charged with having embezzled the sum of $951 44, the property of his employer.

DISHONEST GIRL.

Jane Cody, a servant girl, 14 years of age, employed in the house of Mrs. Wilson, Eighty-sixth-street, was yesterday arrested by Capt. Swanney of the Nineteenth Ward, for stealing $100 worth of clothing from her mistress. The girl confessed her guilt, and said that her mother made her play the thief. Both mother and daughter were committed for trial by Justice BOGERT.

Miscellaneous.

SINGULAR AND SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

A boy of 13 years of age, named John Hutchinson, while playing about the Fulton Fish Market on Sunday afternoon, accidentally fell with his neck upon one of the large hooks used for hauling fish from boats to the dock. The instrument entered his neck near the jugular vein, inflicting a wound several inches in length, and severing some of the small arteries. The little sufferer was removed to the Hospital, where he is now doing well.

LOST CHILDREN.

More than twenty-five disconsolate mothers applied to Sergeant Owens, at the Chief's Office, Monday evening, for the recovery of their lost children. By means of the police telegraph all the little wanderers, with one exception, were heard from and restored to their homes. Now that the weather is fine and merchal music resounds through our streets, little urchins are tempted to lose themselves in search of pleasures abroad, and the police telegraph is almost constantly occupied in hunting up.

DEAD OF HIS WOUNDS.

George C. Fields died yesterday at the New-York Hospital, from the effect of some terrible wounds received at Panama during the late riot at that place. He was, at the time of his death, only 20 years of age; he resided in Jersey City.

HEATHEN BRAZEN TO DEATH.

Mr. J. Osborn Sprag, a resident of Brooklyn, was knocked down and nearly beaten to death by two ruffians, while he was passing the corner of Broadway and Bleecker-street, on Monday night. The rascals, it seems, had taken Mr. Sprag for the "sign of the thing." Of course they were not arrested.

DOWN SUMMARY.

Coroner Hills held an inquest yesterday upon the body of Henry Burns, a native of Ireland, 54 years of age, who Influenced by the last English news, and the apprehension that in Liverpool Middling Orleans may go to 6d., or perhaps under, and the continued comparatively heavy receipts in the South, the market here (says Mr. WRIGHT's circular) has been very dull and unsettled. Holders have not, as a general thing, pressed their stock for sale, and less than the submitted quotations would not be accepted for quantity, though sales have been made at lower rates.

We have heretofore estimated the production of Gold in Australia in 1855, at about fifty millions, making the total for California and Australia, $110,000,000. The last English mail brings the Annual Gold circulars from Melbourne, which compute the production of the Victoria
